Subject: update of BDCP issue paper
BDCPSummaryPaperNov2012.docx

Hi Karen and Tom,

I started updating the most recent BDCP summary/issue paper because ... well it is on my to do list and it helps me keep track of where we are.

I did a comprehensive job apparently b/c it is five pages long. So maybe this version is not summary. The reason I send it to you in it's long-winded state is because I was thinking it is a description of where we are and we can cut and past from it when we need to be more brief.

If you want to make changes to it -- go for it. There really isn't a time crunch on it. I'm just trying to keep up and it will help me in my monthly chats with Jason on where we are.
